Dr. Atkinson’s primary academic and research focus has been in the areas of violence, relational trauma, and healing and recovery for Indigenous peoples. Dr. Atkinson, a Jiman, Aboriginal Australian, holds a BA from the University of Canberra, and a Ph.D. from Queensland University of Technology.

Join us for lunch to discuss her recent book Trauma Trails, Recreating Songlies: The Trangenerations Effects of Trauma in Indigenous Australia and learn more about her current work supporting research opportunities for emerging Indigenous researchers in Australia, Timor Lester, and Papua New Guinea.

RSVP TO CMGMH@WILLIAMJAMES.EDU